Critical Path in red, as although there are many branching paths, the navigation bar and search will take the longest in estimated hours

Our plan to ensure the schedule is maintained is by putting increasing emphasis on completing the bottleneck items first. For example the EP-57 and 58 were meant to be done within the first half of the first week. Additionally we decided in the sprint planning meeting to purposefully avoid a lot of items that would cause bottlenecks so that everyone has something to work on and are not waiting for others to finish.
